The people of ARK have a distinguished history in the furniture industry, well known for their tireless dedication to design, quality and service. Many of the people who embody this spirit of excellence have been together at ARK for more than twenty years. We are a collection of dedicated and talented people who believe that a life's work must provide, along with the obvious financial reward, a sense of personal achievement.

We continue to search for new ways to improve ourselves, our products and our services so that we may better serve our clients. In today's rapidly changing office environment we are aggressively pursuing alternative environmental friendly materials and design solutions. ARK is continually striving for innovation in technology and design, while adhering to high quality manufacturing standards using superior craftsmanship and materials.

ARK has a simple credo: To provide the highest level of design, quality and service to our clients. ARK's manufacturing approach is to keep our designs flexible, our material options varied, and our lead times short so that we may better serve our clients needs. Our structure lets our customer's imagination define the boundaries of our abilities.

ARK responds to the challenges of the marketplace with standards of excellence at all levels: sound design, benchmark quality, and affordable prices. These are the things that will ensure our success and guarantee our future.

Quality is all we know;
quality is all we do.

Elysian's lustrous finishes and matching woods combined with beautiful top grain leathers and Italian stones present an incomparable offering of the highest quality materials.

Elysian's smooth, elongated top edges floating above the clean architectural elements of the table leg create a distinctive architectural design detail.

The Elysian top is two-and-one quarter-inches thick and is composed of two separate tops: the sloped working surface and a sub-top separated by a recessed black reveal.

The separate working surface allows for a great flexibility in materials and finishes distinct from the sup-top and base unit. The Elysian design permits the mixing of materials, such as leather and wood, within the same work surface.

A conference room is a place where clients are met, internal operations discussed, company goals reviewed and decisions made.

ARK's conference, meeting and training tables, with communication and electrical power capabilities, allow you to be prepared for any occasion.

Marker boards, VCR cabinets, lecterns and credenzas are all part of the conference offering and have matching details.

ARK's wide range of solutions and prices enables you to create functional and aesthetic environments for all of your meeting needs.

ARK's conference room furniture is designed for durability, flexibility, communication and style.
